PENNSYLVANIA GRADE. The Emblem Oil float was well in character. No better quality can be found than is represented by these five attractive young ladies who were the finalists in the Miss Warren County pageant.

PAIR OF QUEENS. Here is happiness as expressed by true feminine beauty. Miss Shirley Brown, Miss Warren County of 1954, poses with Miss Ay who is Miss America, immediately after the crowning.

SUCCESSFUL DEFENSE. The Westshoremen of Wormleysburg defended their Warren Class A drum and bugle corps crown, and went home with the first place check, reading $1,200. It was a close contest, the winners receiving 83.84 points. Next came Geneva with 82.97, and Batavia with 82.93.

CLASS C CHAMPS. The Kane Kadets marched away with the parade honors and $110.

COUNTY NEWS in brief . .

In Warren County Jail after signing written statements connecting them with the molestation of a 12 year old Tidioute girl are two Jamestown, N. Y., men, Robert L. Watson, 24, and his cousin, Robert L. Raymond, 20. The men were apprehended in Jamestown Friday night at the end of a week-long search of the combined forces of Warren county police, Penna. state police, and the lawmen of Chautauqua county.

In their statements the men told of going to Corry, Saturday, June 26, to look for girls, following a bus load of girls from Corry to Tidioute where they forced the Tidioute girl into their car. They then took her to a secluded spot and attacked her. Both men are married. Arraigned before Tidioute's Justice of the Peace G. K. Lodge Saturday night, the repasts entered a plea of innocence.

Still At Large Are Two men who entered Shady Lawn Motel a little after midnight Thursday and took approximately $200 from the cash register by pointing a gun at night managers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dennett. The man handling the gun was tall, weighed about 135 lbs., was about 21 years old, wore blue jeans and khaki shirt. The other man who stood in the door while his partner negotiated the robbery was fat, rather short, also about 21, and wore a light shirt and trousers.

After the holdup, the bandits left on foot in the direction of Warren, but local authorities believe that there was a parked car waiting for them a few blocks away. The men are not believed to be of Warren and vicinity. They wore no masks.

Former Warren Man H. M. Putnam, Jr., now of Port Arthur, Texas, was one of three men granted a patent on a feed indicator for a liquid pump. Putnam is a graduate of Warren high school.

Treated At Warren General hospital Friday night for head lacerations sustained in an automobile accident on Rt. 62 were Walter Napora, his wife, Katherine, and Colleen Reinig, a guest riding in the car with them. The Napora car attempted to pass a truck driven by William Barrett of Russell, went out of control and rolled over on the highway, producing damages of $1500 to the Napora car. There was no damage to the truck.

The Dunkirk Drum Corps made a terrific hit with the people on Shantz street Monday afternoon after the Memorial Field competition when they gathered in front SHAPELINESS COUNTED TOO. All angles were considered in choosing Miss Warren County, and bathing suits revealed a few that made the judges' task no easier. From left to right they are Barbara Sadler, of Sheffield; Narcissa McLeod, Warren; Shirley Brown, Pleasant twp., who was the winner; Nancy Cannon, Warren, and Jeanine Williams, Youngsville. The dark suits against dark shadows fail to do justice in a pair of cases.

WE WERE IMPRESSED. Though most people are apt to consider a beauty contest as a kind of sideshow, those who met Miss America were convinced that she rated the title. Intelligent, poised, charming, and very beautiful, she reigned as would a true queen over the Warren festivities. Ephrata must be very proud of its Miss Ay. Pennsylvania is, and Warren was Monday. Here she is atop the Sylvania float.

Washington And You

By Margaret Chase Smith

WASHINGTON. . . There are encouraging signs that our country is beginning to emerge from the delirium of hysteria, fear, suspicion, and hate that has plagued it for the last four or five years. The Four Horsemen of Calumny - fear, ignorance, bigotry and smear - who have galloped so triumphantly and roughshod over the constitutional freedoms of the American people and our American way of justice, now seem to have been slowed up considerably.

The end has not yet come for them. But there are justified hopes that the end is in sight. For those who have ridden with the Four Horsemen of Calumny, to gain selfish and personal power to the detriment of the unity of our nation and our people, are no longer having things all their own way and are finding the going much tougher. And as this happens, the timid "Casper Milquetoasts" who dared not stand up to them, who silently acquiesced as the American system of justice, "innocent until proved guilty," was temporarily subverted and replaced by the totalitarian system of "guilty until proved innocent" - these timid "Casper Milquetoasts" are suddenly finding courage to stand for what is right as they see the tyrants begin to lose their evil

If the end of this evil is now in sight, then surely the credit for the return to sanity and decency must go to the American people themselves. It cannot go to the so called leaders of our country. It cannot for the simple reason that too many of our national leaders have been too politically frightened to stand up and speak out against the demagogues using Communist tactics to confuse and divide our people for selfish political conquest.

No, the credit cannot go to our national leaders, for too pitifully few of them have put principles ahead of politics and spoken up for what they considered to be just and right regardless of political consequences. Perhaps this was because they felt that the American people had been mesmerized by the demagogues.

In any case, it is now clear that credit goes to the people themselves, for it is they who have spoken up. They have spoken up at elections. They have spoken up with their letters to the leaders of our country. They have revitalized the backbone of our politicians. They have done the leading themselves instead of being led. They have led the leaders.

Their courage and sense of decency and justice, so expressed, has been infused into an increasing number of national leaders. It has been discovered suddenly that courage can be just as contagious as fear.

Yet, as in all struggles, something has been gained from this national delirium from which we seem to be emerging. We have come through it with a new strength. We have shed much of the mental flabbiness, the indifference, the complacency and the softness toward the subversive threat that we had before the delirium set in. That delirium has shocked us into a greater alertness, firmness and resistance to the threat of communism.

But it has done more than that -- for in the final stages of this delirium, we have also awakened to the fact that the way to fight communism is not with fascism but rather with Americanism. The heat and the fire of the delirium has given us a needed confidence in our American way of life, for it has made us aware that we must continually fight for our freedoms lest they be destroyed by evil men coveting dictatorial power.

I am happy that the events and developments of the past several weeks make it possible to reach these conclusions. I am happy to be able to say this at this particular time because this is my next-to-last column. And one of the things I have tried to do in my column was to give to the people the pertinent facts on both sides of some of the great issues of our time, and to encourage the people to speak up, to do their own thinking, to form their own conclusions, and to guard their inherited liberties by exercising them.

(Editor's Note. This is the last column to be written by Senator Smith that we will publish. This we regret because we believe she has brought a message from Washington a little different that is offered by most professional columnists. We have not decided what column we will use to succeed her.)

LOGAN'S*OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

Too many of us not only fail to study our history but we even fail to remember some through which we lived. Or perhaps we remember a bit of it, but are too hazy in our interpretation.

We now have some Americans, led by such as Senator Knowland, who would have us abandon the United Nations if Red China is admitted. Is this democracy speaking? Either it will be our way or we will not play, says the Senator.

A little over thirty years ago the United States was showing a reluctance to go along with the League of Nations, which at that time was an effort to unite the countries of the world in a group which would prevent wars by settling them around the conference table. But the leaders of such a move in America were a minority. The League failed because the most powerful nation on the side of freedom put away its cannon, stood still militarily, and took no positive part in world affairs.

It didn't work and we found that we were not an isolated paradise. When the League failed and war came, we were sucked in. And we were not ready! We not only had done nothing to prevent it, but we also were unable to fight it.

The next time there will not be the blessing of large oceans on both sides of us. The bombers will come in droves and each one will carry more damage than all our World War II bombers combined!

In view of this it seems more important than ever not to repeat our League of Nations failure. Though the United Nations may not be perfect, some form of democratic organization must be created to which the nations of the world can belong, and through which they can keep in constant touch on current problems.

It may fail, but it will be better than no try at all. And already it has accomplished much through its many agencies which have given help to the children and underprivileged of the world. Through it we stopped aggression in Korea. Through it we have held back numerous military fires in various spots of the globe.

Indo-China and other Asiatic areas constantly are utilized as proof that communism is spreading. We believe communism is not spreading so much in Asia as is the desire for independence. And the communists are taking full advantage of these desires.

But it has been said that we gave more help to the French and their native allies than did the communists. Yet the French got licked. The fact probably is that we were giving guns to an unpopular cause. Nationalism is strong in Asia, even as it was in America in 1776. These people want their freedom, and we stand as the power which is blocking that freedom while the communists appear to be their friends.

Are we going to measure eligibility for the United Nations on the basis of representation or political philosophy? If aggressive communism should not be represented there, China is only one of many who should be barred. If we want all the people of the world represented, every nation should be seated.

If we want to repeat the Larcarno effort, which also failed, we again are retracing the footsteps of the recent path, footsteps which did not prevent war. In case you forget, the Larcarno method calls for signatures on a pact, in which we would guarantee to fight on the side of any nation which is attacked by another. France, England, Italy, and Germany had such a pact. You have seen what happened.

Eventually we must have a world of government, or a United group of governments who work together and settle their differences without benefit of lead or fissile materials. The world must learn to live together, a lesson that will not be taught by pointed gun barrels.

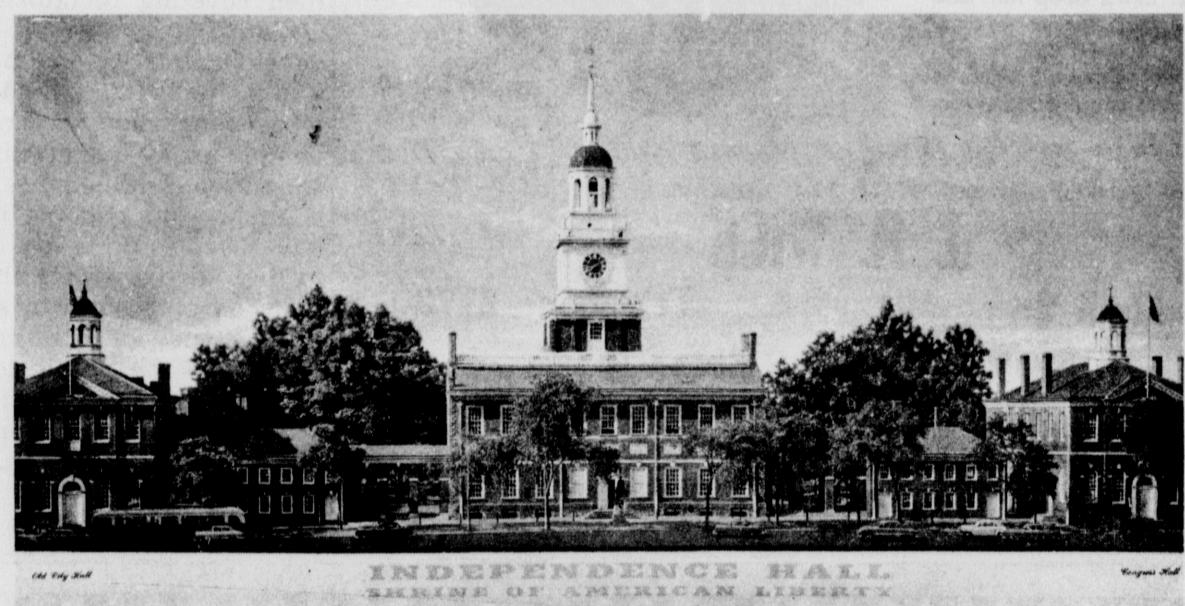

The pact has not been drawn which will protect us from war. A pact only states who fights with whom. It doesn't stop the fight. We must remain strong while we utilize less violent methods to develop a means of world freedom and peace. The United Nations can be a start toward that goal. We need to work at improving it. And we can't do that by turning our back on it when we don't get our way.

INDEPENDENCE HALL
MAYNE OF AMERICAN LIBERTY

In Philadelphia, within the confines of a single city square, where the Continental Congress met, Washington became General of the Army, where the Declaration of Independence and the Articles of Confederation were signed and the Federal Constitution drafted. Here also stands the famed Liberty Bell.

Thousands of full color reprints of the only photograph ever made in Philadelphia showing a front view of Old City Hall, Independence Hall and Congress Hall on one negative will be distributed to the public by The Atlantic Refining Company, it was announced today. Postcards entitling holders to copies will be given away beginning next Friday at all company service stations here and in other cities in Atlantic's marketing territory as a contribution to the observance of Independence Day.

Razing of the old buildings on Chestnut Street facing Independence Square to make way for the construction of Independence Hall made it possible for the first time some months ago to place a camera far enough back from the square to cover the facades of the three historic shrines in one picture. Construction of the Hall will make it impossible to duplicate this photograph in the future.

The photograph was originally made by the company to be used on its outdoor poster panels and is now being displayed on highways from New England to Florida. The reprints which will be given away measure 11 by 16 1/4 inches, contain all the colors used on the poster panels and bear a descriptive caption on the lower margin.

The Public Spoke

Fifteen thousand letters and cards, and requests by twenty-three community antenna systems representing 20,000 viewers, combined to prevent the discontinuance of the McCarthy hearing from Altoona TV alone. The nation-wide request probably was proportionately as large.

The station estimates that the time used was worth $68,000. But it reached an area with nearly a half million TV sets, and we believe the station should be given credit for providing these viewers with this public service. Too few mediums of this kind are willing to make a sacrifice of commercial hours, even when they think it may make them friends.

It proved a good measure of public interest in Washington events and it brought home with great impact many facts which most people had not thoroughly digested when given them by contradictory reports of reporters and commentators. Those who had made a hero of McCarthy were unveiled. This is press freedom at its best.

Parades

Parades seem to be a major part of Warren county's holiday play time. Every community in the area has at least two a year, if you count Memorial Day, and the big one for the entire county is the Fourth of July show-piece put on by the Jaycees.

Everyone likes a parade, tritely expresses the reason for the prevalence of these lines of march. And this easily can be proved by a look at the crowds that line the curbs. Warren's annual Fourth of July celebration, which the Junior Chamber of Commerce has refined down to a science, must have attracted its biggest turn-out this year.

The problem that results is a vicious circle as far as the boys who have the responsibility of doing the job is concerned. The big show has not declined a bit in quality. In fact, it seems to get bigger and better. The result is that it is selling itself throughout the nation. Those who come and see, go to tell, and though they may not come back, those they tell are very apt to make the trip. So it expands and the cars roll in from all corners of the country.

The boys have one by the tail. They have to aim to be a little higher each year in order to hold the standard. This year they jammed it into a single day, quite a gamble, when you consider the financial loss a wet day could have produced. But the parade was longer, the bugle corps were Class Triple A, the queens were gorgeous, and the fireworks were louder and longer than before.

This kind of growth provides problems. Such as the control of a crowd which wants to bulge into the narrow street, and some kind of system that will tell people what attractions are coming down the avenue, and also advise them to stay put until the parade is over. Many missed an entire division this year when they skipped out before the last one arrived.

Considering the immensity of the attraction, Warren police and the Jaycees did a very smooth job. Cars were parked on both sides of the South Side streets as far as the tracks an hour before the parade. And they were north as far as Seventh ave. But the post parade traffic was cleared out inside an hour.

There also were approximately two hundred unhappy people with red tickets on the cars they had left parked in choice spots throughout the night. Some were Jaycees and they were a bit burned.

However, the officers have a job to do, and if Warren wants to make exceptions in this case the police should be so advised. Business does have to go on and there does have to be some kind of traffic and parking control. If any exception is made at all we believe the complete clearing of the Avenue might be the best idea.

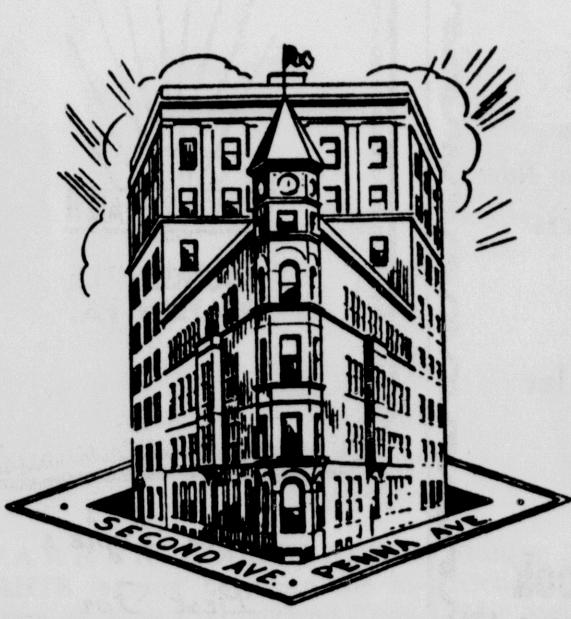

This is assuming that the big parade is here to stay. Maybe it isn't. Perhaps the Jaycees will turn their energies to a project of more lasting quality. But this live group is apt to hang on to the Independence Day dragon's tail even though something else also is shouldered. In that case Warren has a growing problem.

M. Sullivan Visits Paris

Monsieur Ed Sullivan recently journeyed to Paris where he gazed with admiration upon the heroic nurse of Dienbienphu and other things French. This visit provided the French an admirable opportunity to gaze upon Mr. Sullivan which, he has, they did with something less than admiration.

I refer you to the work of M. Michel-Droit writing in Paris' highly esteemed newspaper "Le Monde."

"M. Ed Sullivan, producteur of 'Toast of the Town,' who for six years triumphs each Sunday over the antennas of the CBS-TV before 35,000,000 telespectateurs Americains, is in Paris. He has come over especially to film the Moulin Rouge and other places he esteems as 'very Parisienne' for the 312th emission of his series which will be at the same time his anniversary. But having brought in his valise the kinescope of one of his most successful shows, and having shown the projection to some critics and also certain producers of French television, he has exposed to these last named the greatest encouragement that they could possibly expect from a man of similar trade.

"I followed with great attention the unrolling of the program of M. Sullivan and I have not had need to meditate very long on the figures of which he informed us with a charming frankness (120 persons and 100,000,000 francs at the service of each emission of sixty minutes) to conclude that with a budget fifty times leaner and five times fewer personnel, Jean Nohain has been able to earn our gratitude and Giles Margaritis to 'invent a television program' in each of his productions.

"I greatly regret that 'Toast of the Town' has not been projected on our domestic screen or even has not been shown in that saison internationale whose success is indisputable. The telespectateurs European would have been able to derive some great measure of optimism or at least some reserve in their own judgment of their own shows, if they could witness one of these king-sized TV spectacles from across the Atlantic. For, enfin, aside from an extraordinary number by the ventriloquist Senor Wences - who did the same act for two years at the Lido (in Paris) - and a "version Americaine" of Patachou - to which I far away prefer "the version Francaise" to the point of earnestly recommending it to my Yankee friends if they don't know it - apart from that, what a sadness the show was! And I pass over in silence the announcements which engaged us regularly to roll in one make of automobile in preference to another make!"

"The only profitable instruction absorbed from the lesson of M. Sullivan: the remarkable quality of the kinescope which he showed to us and which leads us into sad dreams - when one thinks of how many images are being lost every moment and of so many others so badly conserved....."

A-a-h, M. Michel-Droit, what a sadness, indeed! It is not customary here to criticize the critical emissions of others, that being a form of cannibalism to be deplored. But, Monsieur, you haven't used, you've missed the very cream of M. Sullivan, the essence of the man, the -uh- soul!

How could you review "Toast of the Town" without once mentioning M. Sullivan's matchless aplomb upon a stage? Did you not note the proud carriage of the head and shoulders? You have passed over in silence not only the announcements of the automobiles but also

Oil Controls Votes

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON .. Perhaps the neatest trick of the year — a real one-two — was pulled off by the Senate this week during consideration of the tax bill.

You taxpayers ought to be let in on it. You are well acquainted with the first round, which got plenty of publicity. That was the sham battle in which both parties engaged in the pretense of doing a little something for the small taxpayer. It involved the alternative amendments to increase personal income-tax exemptions — one sponsored by Senator Walter George (Ga.) on behalf of the Democrats, the other an eleventh-hour sleeper offered on behalf of the Republicans by Senator Eugene Millikin (Colo.), Finance Committee chairman.

Both were defeated in succession, as you remember, and by identical votes, 49 to 46. So the small taxpayer came out with exactly nothing — zero.

But in the campaigns, you'll hear how your Senators tried to do something for you, and they'll have the record to prove it. Everyone of the 96 was present except Senator Joseph McCarthy (R., Wisc.). Such an attendance is rare, indeed; but they all wanted to show the small taxpayer how their hearts bleed for him. All except 4 of the 95 voted for one or the other of the two plans for increasing personal exemptions — Republicans generally supporting the Millikin version, Democrats the George version, and each party voting against the other party's scheme. It was a record vote to which Senators can refer you.

It was a noisy muddle — and very poor legislating. The Administration came out best — for it wanted no personal-exemption boost.

Now for the second round, which happened more quietly and furtively immediately afterward.

Though doing nothing for the little fellow, the Senate proceeded to continue the tax bonanza for the oil industry embodied in the 27 1-2 percent depletion allowance that has been on the books for twenty eight years. This is a flat deduction or exemption, applicable both to oil corporations and to individuals in the oil business. It is written off before they begin to figure their taxes. Because of it, "many such taxpayers are paying little or nothing in taxes under existing law," explained Senator John Williams (R., Del.), who made a name for himself by his investigation of the Internal Revenue Bureau. He thinks these oil companies ought to support their Government, as do the rest of us.

He and Senator George Aiken (Vt.), both Republicans, offered an amendment to cut the depletion allowance to 15 percent, which would be handsome enough. Senator Paul Douglas (Ill.), a Democrat, proposed an amendment for a reduction also but on a graduated scale, with bigger exemptions for small companies. This was to take care of independent prospectors, and he explained his reason thus:

"Whenever it is proposed to reduce the depletion allowance for the big boys, the poor independent operator is trotted out and is used as a modern 'widow and orphan' to justify the Texas oil multi-millionaires in raiding the United States Treasury."

Both the Aiken-Williams and Douglas amendments were defeated.

But do you think you can find out how Senators voted? No, sir. The voting was by voice and a "division." Three times an attempt was made by sponsors of the amendments to get a record, roll-call vote. All that was required was for ten Senators to signify they wanted a roll-call vote by holding up their hands. You should have seen your big, brave public servants "sitting on their hands," as Senator Aiken put it, when a show of hands for a roll-call vote was asked. Never were there enough, though they had tumbled over one another, in the previous sham battle, to get on record that they were for you and me on the personal-exemptions increase — with a farce the result.

But they took care of big oil, as always. Oil knows no party lines.

The reason? Simple enough. This is a campaign year, and oil is the biggest contributor to campaigns. Both parties want some of that dough.

Senator Douglas blurted out the unpleasant truth when he explained that the depletion allowance "is largely responsible for creating the Texas oil millionaires" and gives them excess funds for political activity. They "now are attempting to dominate the politics of the United States and to determine who will enter the Senate of the United States," he said, adding, "They constitute one of the largest sources of political financing and political propaganda at the present time."

He told the Senate that Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.), recently renominated, had put a note on his desk "authorizing me to say that the Texas oil men went into the Maine primary and tried to defeat her." Her opponent had the blessing of Senator McCarthy, you recall.

No wonder so many Senators wanted to duck a record vote. Oil has cowed them.

Ludlow Wildcats Won Three Games, each by a margin of one run, last weekend. On Friday evening the Cats squeezed by Salamanca, 2 to 1. With runners on second and third, Eddie Fragale was called into the ball game to relieve Whitaker and retired the side to win the game for Ludlow. Ludlow collected only 5 hits but bunched them to tally a run in both the fifth and seventh innings. Salamanca pushed across their run in the eighth inning.

Big Golf Show

Golfers of the area can see the biggest collection of leading players ever gathered together in this section if they will journey to Erie's Kahkwa Country Club, Sunday. The Erie Jaycee Open this summer has upped its prize money and has been timed to fit between major tournaments in Detroit and Cleveland.

The result will be a field of competitors that includes Tommy Bolt, Dutch Harrison, and Al Beselink, plus many big circuit money winners. They will go thirty-six holes over a beautiful course, on which there are points where you can watch several greens and tees without much walking. If you enjoy good golf, this is better than any exhibition.

SPECIAL NEWS RELEASE

On July 1 the Pennsylvania Game Commission met at Harrisburg. They set the following daily, season and possession limits for the taking of game birds, game animals and furbearers during the hunting license period beginning September 1, 1954, ending August 31, 1955.

SMALL GAME

The season on small game and other wild birds or animals will open at 9 a. m., Saturday, October 30, and run until 5 p. m., Saturday, November 27. Otherwise, daily shooting hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, Sundays excepted. The 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. hours also apply on the opening dates of the big game seasons.

The season for ruffed grouse, wild turkeys, male ringneck pheasants, gray, black and fox squirrels, bobwhite quail, and cottontail rabbits will run for the full season, October 30 to November 27, inclusive. Limits on them are the same as last year: grouse, 2 a day and 8 the season; wild turkeys, 1 and 1; ringneck pheasants (cocks only), 2 and 8; quail (closed in 1953) 4 and 12; gray, black and fox squirrels (combined), 5 and 20; cottontail rabbits, 4 and 20.

All counties are open to wild turkey hunting in the 1954 season.

Raccoons remain unprotected and may be taken in unlimited numbers on all days except Sundays by either the hunting or trapping method until September 1, 1955.

Woodchucks are unprotected and may be taken in unlimited numbers except on Sundays during the same twelve month period.

Snowshoe rabbits (varying hares) may be hunted January 1 to 8, inclusive, 1955. The limit: 2 a day, 6 the season.

There will be no close season on grackles during the 1954 license period, and red squirrels are unprotected all months except October 1 to 29, inclusive, 1954.

Regulations covering possession and transportation limits of legally killed small game are the same as last year. They allow not more than the daily limit for the first day nor more than an accumulated total for each succeeding day of the open season for each species. But small game shall not be in excess of the season limit, regardless where held, stored or found in possession.

There will be no open season on: Hungarian partridges, hen pheasants, sharptailed grouse, and others.

* * *

BIG GAME

Bears:

The season on bears will run for two weeks this year — November 15-27, inclusive. Only bears over one year old are legal game. An individual hunter may take one bear in the 1954 season. A hunting party of 3 or more persons may take 2 bears in one day or during the entire season.

Antlered Deer:

From November 29 to December 11, inclusive, a two-week "buck" season, state-wide, for animals of the following description: male deer with 2 or more points to one antler: Provided, a male deer with an antler 3 or more inches long without points, measuring from the top of the skull as the deer is in life, shall be considered legal, as in the 1953 season.

Bow Season For Deer:

The two-week archers' season, October 11 to 23, inclusive, will be for male deer only as described in the antlered deer season above. In addition to the regular hunting license every bow hunter, without exception, must procure a special archery license costing $2.00 from the Department of Revenue only, Harrisburg, in order to hunt deer during the special bow season.

Certain Big Game Closed:

There will be no open season in 1954 on antlerless deer, spike bucks with antlers less than three inches long, cub bears, and elk.

* * *

FUR SEASONS

The mink trapping season will extend from November 5 to January 1, with no limit on the take.

Muskrats, in unlimited numbers, may be taken by the trapping method only December 1 to February 1.

Skunks and opossums remain on the unprotected list. They may be taken in unlimited numbers until September 1, 1955.

The beaver season was again set for three weeks, February 14 to March 5, 1955. The number of these furbearers that may be taken will be, as last season, 4 in one day or 4 the season.

All hunting and trapping dates given above are inclusive.

Hunters and trappers are urged to study the information on their 1954 hunting licenses, also to consult the leaflet issued with each license for additional details.

THE "Quick"...

AND THE DEAD

The "quick" . . . the people who drive at excessive speed . . . the people who do not obey posted speed limits . . . the people who think they know more than experienced traffic engineers who set speed limitations for highways after careful study . . . they — are the ones most frequently killed in traffic accidents. Grim statistics prove that the "quick" and the dead, in one-third of all traffic accidents, are the same.

Pennsylvania, with 23 other states, is asking you to drive carefully this summer. Slow down and live! Make 1954 the safest year ever!

This message in the interest of highway safety is one of a series prepared and disseminated by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue.

$600 RICHER. The Geneva Appelknockers were less than a point under the winners to take second place in the Class drum and bugle corps competition.

REAL CLASS, but the shade of less than a point separated them from first place. One hundredth of a point from second. They are the Cavaliers from Batavia and Brockport. They took home $400.

SHADES OF NINETIES. Where the Glade Twp. Firemen's auxiliary found the many wagons of pre-Lizzie vintage no one can guess. Happy memories were revived when this coach came rolling by. Tallyho! And let me hold your hand, madam. It was good for a first in the service class.

JAYCEE'S NATIONAL VEEP Frank Pasquerella presents the project-of-the-year award to Warren's Parade Chairman Jack Barr, making this the second year in a row that the boys have copped the plaque for their tremendous Independence Day Celebration.

GOOD IMPRESSION. The Northeast firemen, neatly uniformed and well drilled, took most of the parade honors in their division, best marching units and best band.
